REMARKS.

The years roll around one after another, and each revolution brings its annual duties, one of which is the summing up of accounts and reviewing the year's work in our schools; the results of which are—in many, if not nearly all respects, very satisfactory. In some instances we are aware there is opportunity for criticism, but as perfection is not acquired in any thing, we must not expect it in school matters, nor criticise too severely without thorough investigation.

We had planned for a certain number of weeks' schooling, not thinking of our last year's deficiency and not knowing of the depreciation in the Literary fund. Consequently we have exceeded our appropriations for our common schools. If the deficiency had been discovered sooner we would have closed the schools earlier.

The primary school in the village is over crowded, there being more children than one teacher can do justice by. Another department is demanded, hence the article in the Warrant to see what the District will do about building an addition to the school house.

We have added to the convenience of the High school by way of laboratory arrangements, etc.

A change in the manner of heating the village school building is much needed. We are already running six stoves with long stretches of pipe, and it is impossible to get an even temperature in all parts of the rooms. It seems to us that a steam heating arrangement would not only add to the comfort, but be conducive to the health of our children; not only this, but we should do away with the greater part of danger by fire.

We have no disposition to "rob Peter to pay Paul," but many of our out-schools are growing smaller, while our village schools are growing larger, and it's but wisdom to make provisions for the increase and comfort of our schools.

Twenty-nine and thirty-one weeks of schooling which we have had this year is no more than we ought to have every year.

With the increasing business aspects of both town and country, it seems as though an increase of our appropriations for educational purposes would be conducive to our best interests.

We can speak of our High school only in the highest terms, believing we have a High school worthy not only the patronage of our own Town but of the adjoining towns. We have three tuition scholars from Bennington, and if the present high standard is maintained, we see no reason why many more will not come in.

The school, by giving exhibitions, has created a small fund and made a beginning of a permanent reference library, which it hopes to increase in the near future.

Quite liberal contributions have been made for the benefit of the laboratory connected with this school. Here is an opportunity for some generous hearted persons to help in a good cause which will not only redound to their credit but be of lasting benefit to this and future generations.

A class of eleven was graduated from this school last June, whose names are printed in this report. A class of seven will graduate next June, Providence permitting.

The school-houses in Divisions 4 and 7 have been painted, the one in Division 6 shingled, and we also dug a well and put in pipe and tub for water in Division 5.

Thanking all those who have in any way aided us in trying to elevate the standard of our schools, and hoping for your support in the future, we remain,

Your obedient servants,

A. B. CROMBIE,
ADELINE E. GOULD,
D. W. COOLEY,
School Board of Antrim.
